

Painless Parenting for the Preschool Years

Parents of preschoolers have lots of questions. With wisdom and humor, we'll address the answers and share the secrets to taking the frustration, stress, and confusion out of parenting preschoolers.

- Bedtime — and how to keep the child in bed
- Potty training — when and how
- Time-out — making it work for toddlers
- How to get to work on time — and not be stressed
- Temper tantrums — how to avoid them, no matter where you are
- and many other practical, easy-to-use strategies that work effectively with everyday challenges

As a bonus, you'll learn how to enjoy this stage of your child's life and look forward to sharing a lifetime of joy.

JUNE CONLEY offers the Painless Parenting for the Preschool Years training course. The program was developed by Charles Fay, Ph.D., of the Love and Logic Institute, Inc., in Golden, Colorado.

June has over forty years of experience in child advocacy and parent education. As a parent and grandparent, school director, teacher, tutor, guardian ad litem, and lobbyist on school issues, she has worked to promote the understanding and protection of children in seven states. As director of an adult literacy program she recruited and trained volunteers to help children by increasing their parents' literacy skills and parenting information.

June has unique experience working with international students and adoptees, teaching them language and acculturation, and has trained and supervised childcare workers and au pairs.
